A Message from Bryce Phillips, CEO of Windsor-Detroit Bridge Authority

The past few days have been unprecedented. It’s been a time when difficult decisions have been made by world leaders and when lives have been forever changed. It is a time when we all need to adapt.

The health and well-being of our staff and our stakeholders is our top priority for Windsor-Detroit Bridge Authority (WDBA), and remains at the forefront as we make decisions in this rapidly-evolving situation. In response to the current COVID-19 situation, WDBA has taken the following actions:

- The Community Offices in Sandwich and Southwest Detroit have been closed until further notice.
- The WDBA head office at 100 Ouellette Avenue in Windsor is closed to visitors.
- WDBA has temporarily prohibited all unnecessary travel by our staff members.
- All WDBA staff have been provided with the necessary equipment (computers, printers, telephones) to follow the direction to work remotely from home.
- Additional video and voice conferencing software has been installed so that we can remain in contact with each other and with our stakeholders.
- Our toll-free and local telephone lines as well as our external email addresses are being monitored to ensure that we respond as soon as possible.
- We are working closely with our private-sector partner, Bridging North America, throughout this situation.

All of these measures have been put in place to safeguard the health and safety of the public, our stakeholders and our employees. WDBA will continue to monitor this evolving situation and are ready to implement further initiatives as required. We will keep you informed.
